“My Beachside Place” by Eliana Bellairs

Friendship my anchor, family my sail,

In the sea of life they never fail.

Through storms we’ve weathered, and calm tides we’ve known.

With them beside me I’m never alone.

Their laughter, like seagulls’ calls, fill the air,

Their love and support, like the sun’s warmth, always there.

In joy and sorrow, through calm and swell.

Their presence, like the ocean, a constant, I dwell.

With siblings I bask, in the lighthouse’s light,

Guiding us gently through day and through night.

Just like our parents, wisdom embraced in the cove’s warmth, serenity embraced.

Friends, like starfish, brighten our beach,

their presence a comfort within our reach,

with laughter and joy they fill our days,

In their company we find endless ways.

Through life’s journey, like the ocean’s song,

with family and friends, we sail along.

In their warmth and love like the sun’s embrace

A haven of comfort, our beachside place.
