1. Start the dragon egg at the very bottom of the Styrofoam egg. You can glue this “starter” tack in for stability.

2. Insert tacks into the egg so that they overlap the “starter” tack and each other. The tacks overlap like fish scales.

3. Keep adding tacks, overlapping them as you move up the egg and cover it with tacks.

4. You will put a final tack at the very top. You can also glue this tack to help it stay in.

5. You can add glue to any tacks that feel loose or like they might fall out. Use a toothpick to push the glue in where it needs to go.
6. If desired, you can use colored sharpies, nail polish, and/or rhinestones to further decorate your egg.
